“The City of Tomorrow”

Shared Living in Mixed Cities of the Future

3rd International Conference

October 20-22, 2015, Konrad Adenauer Conference Center, Mishkenot Sha'ananim, Jerusalem

The City of Tomorrow – Shared Living in Mixed Cities of the Future, organized by The Jerusalem Foundation and The Adam Institute, is the third in a series of annual conferences that addresses the issue of Living in Mixed cities. Focusing on the future, this conference will explore creative solutions to current problems in preparation for the opportunities, challenges and dangers that lie ahead. Following political, economic, cultural, and other changes occurring in Israel and across the world, there is a need for a new and courageous discourse concerning living in mixed cities. Rising national and cultural tensions, refugees and economic migrants, modern technology and more, warrant a long term vision that will enable an examination of the current processes of change and creatively and humanely prepare for a better future. By engaging in forward thinking, conference participants will start sketching their shared vision toward a more sustainable urban living environment.
